Mrs. Mary Amoury, who has been in jail in Key West for some weeks charged with kidnapping two young children, entered a voluntary plea of guilty to a charge of kidnapping in the criminal court Friday morning. Judge Bethel imposed sentence of one year in the penitentiary, but owing to the weakened condition of the woman, sentence was suspended. After Mr. Amoury gave his bond about a week ago, he was allowed to leave for Havana immediately.

Sunday morning Mrs. Joseph Altman, who lives near the Powell-Smith Co's. still, was cooking tomatoes in a tin bucket. The lid was on the bucket and fitted so tightly that when Mrs. Altman wished to lift it to examine the contents of the bucket it would not come off. She then tried to pry it off with a case knife, and when it was just started the great quantity of steam in the bucket shot it upward with great force, as well as a good part of the tomatoes. Mrs. Altman's face was immediately over the bucket when this happened, and she was severely scalded by the steam and tomatoes as well as cut by the lid. She was brought to Starke as quickly as possible and a physician attended to her injuries. Her eyes had been seriously injured, but it is hoped she will recover her sight.—Starke Telegraph.

All the street hacks of the city were lined up in front of Mayor Nash's office yesterday morning, complaint having been lodged with the mayor that a number of these horses were unfit for service, and to work them was in violation of the law for the prevention of cruelty to animals. Mayor Nash had Veterinary Surgeon E. P. Guernsey examine and pass upon the condition of all these animals, which he did thoroughly and systematically. We understand that the horses attached to eight hacks were put out of commission and will not be allowed to return upon the streets until their limeness and other disqualifications are remedied. The condition of the Ocala hack horses has long been the subject of comment both by strangers and home people and the action of Mayor Nash is to be commended.—Ocala Banner.
